

Red Balau offers a long lasting beauty without uneven wear or splitting. Red Balau also provides a durable and strong deck that adds the perfect amount of warm, rich color to your home. Red Balau is sourced from countries that are leaders in sustainable forestry practices.

Bridgetown Red Balau is a kiln-dried hardwood. Adequate air flow under the deck is essential. Kiln-dried deck boards will not shrink appreciably after installation. They will, however, expand during periods of high humidity or prolonged rainfall.

This select-harvested hardwood from Malaysia and Indonesia is twice as dense as Genuine Mahogany with less color variation than other hardwoods.

Bridgetown Red Balau can be finished and maintain a "furniture look", or allowed to weather to a silver gray.

- Kiln-dried.
- Extremely dense, tight-grained wood. Deep red with a minor amount of fine brown lines.
- Surfaced-four-sides. Remains smooth and splinter free.
- Premium selected heartwood – no knots, no defects.
- Four (4) times harder than Redwood.
- Naturally resistant to rot or decay.
- Virtually maintenance free.
- A reddish-brown wood that will fade to a weathered silver gray if left untreated. To retain the rich color, a high quality penetrating oil finish with ultraviolet inhibitors is recommended.
- Environmentally Responsible - This product comes from government managed forests that are verified legal and sustainable.

We stock the following Red Balau products and can help you with your special requirements. Please contact us for further information.

PATTERN LIST

FEQ | KD | S4S E4E

- S4S E4E | 5/4x4 - 5/4x6